The New City Code.

The city ordinances, revised and codified up to date by Alexander Coke, Esq., under an agreement with the City Councll, have been printed for the information of the Council and heads of departments, and should be adopted at an early

For years past the city ordinances have been in a state of confusion, in consequence of the numerous new ones adopted and old ones amended since the last codification was printed. To remedy this evil and to harmonize and perfect our city laws as far as practicable, Mr. Coke was employed, and he has given to his work a great deal of patient labor and professional skill. His work is now ready to be passed upon by the City Council, and we earnestly trust that the Council will act upon it promptly and review the codification with all of the intelligence and care that the vast importance of the subject demands. When the City Council has adopted the new code it will be easy for any citizen to inform himself as to what the law now is on any given question. At present all that one can do to inform himself is to take the old volume of ordinances and consult it and then go to Clerk Au gust and get from him information as o what changes have been made in recent years. The new codification will obciate all these difficulties. And while we have no doubt that Mr. Coke has done his work well, we would have the City Counril do its duty equally well, and review

If any error exists it may be eliminated. Our people cannot have the happiness of knowing that provision for a board of finance will be incorporated into the new rity code. No; that requires an amendwould like to have our fiscal affairs managed better, they will petition the Gene- the Central. al Assembly for suitable legislation. If sevenue, as well as supervising the bookseeping methods of the various departments, it would become the most profittble bureau of our City Government. It would not take away from the City Counill its constitutional prerogatives of levy-ing taxes and making expenditures, but business-like methods that now prevail, and suggest many plans, now unthought of, for increasing our revenue,

However, the present duty of the City Council has to do with the new code, and we hope that it will proceed to legislate without delay.

Horr an Internationalist.

In his opening speech at Chicago Mr. Horr, the sound-money representalive, came out for international free-toinage. He said:

"I am not here as an opponent of bimetallism. I believe in the use of gold and silver as money to the fullest extent that can be done on sound business prin-

"I have always entertained the hope that the business-men of the world would yet come together in international convention, and agree upon some basis whereby gold and silver can be both used as the money of final settlement among the people of the entire world. I am very clear in my idea that until some such arrangement has been made it would be simply suicidal for this nation to adopt a system of the free coinage of silver upon the old ratio, a ratio which all the civilized nations of the world have long since discarded."

As we have said heretofore, internation-

Civil-Pension List.

Referring to the President's new order modifying Rule V of the civil-service rules so as to limit greatly the number of promotions in the classified-customs listricts except after appropriate examinaing what the President would do with a subordinate official who should take the stump as air. Cleveland's Secretary of the Treasury recently took it and make speeches day after day in advocacy of the gold-standard views of the President? is sauce for the goose sauce for the gander? Whenever we read a new civilservice rule we see in the distance a new addition to the civil-pension list. A host of such pensioners will result from any law providing that persons now holding the government offices shall not be removed therefrom.

A Kentucky Lynching.

The latest lynching in Kentucky occurted in Winchester on the 15th. The vicilm was Robert Haggard (colored), who was under arrest charged with "the Excitement in the county ran so high that the Sheriff called out a military tempany, and thirty of fits members were actually on duty at the jail in the town when the lynchers, at 12:65 A. M.,

The lynchers were led by Captain John R. Jones who served in the Confederate | Roses army under General Morgan. Whether the soldiers were in sympathy with the lynchers, or were overawed by superior numbers, does not appear in any account that we have seen, but it is everywhere stated that they surrendered their prisoner without firing a shot. The prisoner was hanged to a bridge, and then the lynchers quietly dispersed. In this case we undertake to say that there was no great fear that there would be any miscarriage of justice, either through the errors of the judge or jury. No, it was probably not for that reason that the people determined to execute unofficial justice, but rather that the poor young lady who had been outraged should not be compelled to come into court and take the chances of having to undergo the torture of a cross-examination, as was the sad experience of a lady victim at Manassas a year or two ago.

We should like to see influential and intelligent colored men of the South organize to suppress the crime that is so discreditable to their race and so fruitful of lynchings. If they could be instruments in the suppression of this particular crime they could have the assurance that lynch law would soon become obsoiete. In no other way that we can think of can worthy colored men benefit their race so greatly as by praying and preaching, working, and organizing against this crime-a crime which, in many parts of the South, keeps the two races embittered with each other, and which justifies lynch law as no other offence against the law does. Yes; if our colored friends will but help to put pear in the course of a few years.

The verdict in the Farrall case in Charles county, Md., causes little surprise in that State, If Mrs. Farrall did cally kill her husband the State failed to prove that fact. It is quite generally onceded that the jury only did its duty in giving the prisoner the benefit of a doubt of somewhat large proportions. The charge against Mrs. Farrall was that she coisoned her husband with strychnine; but the State was never able to prove the corpus delicti. We learn from the Baltimore Sun that Senator Carrico, a physician in good standing in Charles county, and known to the jury as such, who attended Frederick Farrall and was present at the death-bed, testified that in his opinion the man did not die of polson, but from disease of the kidneys. To controvert this theory the State brought scientific experts, who swore that in their opinion the symptoms as described by Dr. Carrico were the symptoms of strychnia poisoning, and they further testified that they had dissected the body and had found the poison in the vital organs. Then came another expert and deposed that these experts were probably wrong; that their methods in finding the poison were unreliable; that there was no certainty that the substance obtained was strychnine, and that the symptoms were not those of strychnia poisoning. And so this left the State's case to stand upon a few incriminating circumstances and the testimony of some half dozen other witnesses, that utterly failed to impress the guilt of the woman or any motive for the erime upon the jury. Hence, the jury very properly found a verdict of not

Georgia papers state that Third-Vice-President Baldwin, of the Southern railway system, has issued a circular against nepotism in the service of the company. Mr. Baldwin's order is that the various heads of departments of the Southern system who have relatives under them the volume with patient attention, so that and in their departments must either transfer them to other departments or tained if this order is to apply to lines like the Georgia Southern and Florida, which is controlled by the Southern ment to the city charter. But it our but is operated as an independent line. business-men and tax-payers generally are If it is to apply to all roads controlled really in earnest when they say that they by the Southern, then the Georgia Southern will come under it, and in time, also,

The Richmond Dispatch is sure that there are a good many Democrats who "hardly know whether they are for or against the administration." It would be such a help to these befogged Democrats if some one would only invent a confortable straddle that would enable them to stand on the platform and yet be on either side of the silver question, or on neither side, as they chose. The Dispatch evidently regards the platform of 1822 as a failure in this regard.—Spring-field (Mass.) Republican. there are a good many Democrats who field (Mass.) Republican.

Undoubtedly the silver plank in the Democratic national platform of 1892 was double-faced. It was interpreted to mean one thing in Wall street, and anthing in the South and West. Let us have no more such trifling with the

Since the Legislature of Maryland established the whipping-post in that State for wife-beaters, four husbands have been lashed for brutally assaulting their wives. One of those whipped was colored, and the other three were white. The act was passed at the session of 1882, and the last whipping done was in 1889. But, as we stated yesterday, some Maryland husbands have shrewdly hired other men to beat their (the husbands') wives for them. In this way the husbands escape the whipping-post, while the men they employ can only be punished for assault.

Mark Twain would be a wealthy man to-day were it not for two business transactions. He invested $100,000 in the Paige Compositor Manufacturing Company, which was one of the first companies to exploit a mechanical type-setting machine. The machine did not succeed. Mr. Clemens was influenced to put his money into the concern because he knew James W. Paige, the inventor. The compuny died about 1888, and after that Webster & Co. ate up all that the hu-

Spelling Reform.

In the following short article the Phila delphia Evening Telegraph tells why what is called "spelling reform" can never be successful: "Anything like a general reform on phonetic principles is unattainable. The English language is now spread over a large portion of the earth. It is used by perhaps a hundred and fifty millions of people, and general consent could not be obtained in favor of any particular system of reform. One great difficulty in the way of reform is that the millions of books already printed would become well nigh useless to the next generation, or else two systems of spelling would have to be learned by each individual, thus greatly enhancing the difficulties of the situation. Another trouble is that there is no fixed standard of pronunciation. The phonetic spelling of one region, if in accord with the prevailing pronunciation, would widely differ from the phonetic spelling of another region, so that we should soon have dialects of English differing as widely as the dialects in the Chinese empire.

"The intention of the reformers is a start of the start of the could accomplish their "Anything like a general reform on fering as widely as the dialects in the Chinese empire.

"The intention of the reformers is good, but if they could accomplish their purpose they would do an irreparable injury to the world by erecting a barrier between the different branches of the English-speaking race, and thus interposing obstacles to the progress of science and civilization."

All possible question, it is said, of the ability of electric locemotive No. 1 of the Baltimore and Ohio caliroad to pull the heaviest trains through the Belt Line tunnel at Baltimore, was disposed of Tuesday, when, with twenty-six freight-cars, all laden to their utmost, and two large locomotives attached, the electric monster pulled through the tunnel, with not nearly an end to this crime, they may well hope all its power on. The load drawn was to see lynching in all of its forms disapat least 2,800,000 pounds.

Reports-Election of Officers. HARRISONBURG, VA., July 17 .- (Special.)—Harrisonburg is decorated and en-livened beyond anything in the previous history of the staid, old town, in honor of the ninth annual convention of the Virginia State Firemen's Association which met here to-day. The convention assembled this afternoon, the roll-call showing an attendance of 71 delegates, representing 22 volunteer fire companies of the State. The attendance of fremen, the accredited delegates num-bers nearly 500.

President John R. Saum called the convention to order, and speeches of wel come were made by Mayor D. M. Switzer H. V. Strayer, and Colonel O. B. Roller The response on behalf of the association was made by Mr. N. F. Reid, of Dan-ville.

A BIG MEMBERSHIP.

The secretary's report showed a full-paid membership of 845. During the year five companies were added to the asso-ciation and four companies cancelled their memberships. There were six deaths du-ting the year. The treasurer's report showed a comfortable balance in the trea-cury. The time for holding the annual convention was changed from the first Wednesday in Jure to the record Wednesday in July. After a spirited fight tween Winchester and Hir pton for ne year's convention, Hampton won by substantial majority.

WANT AN APPROPRIATION. WANT AN APPROPRIATION.

The Committee on Legislation favored a petition to the General Assembly for an annual appropriation of from $1,900 to $2,990 as a benefit fund for disabled firemen or the families of Gremen killed in the discharge of duty. Officers were elected for the next year as follows: W. J. Weymouth, of Hampton, president; George C. Cumming, of Fortsmouth, secretary; N. F. Reid, of Danville, treasurer; W. T. Robinson, of Portsmouth, was chosen representative to the National Association of Fire Chiefs. The festivities to-morrow include a rest race for a prize of $5 in gold, a grand parade of uniformed firemen in the afternoon, and a banquet at hight.
